

From Planning to Implementation, ICS Can Create a Customized Plan for Your District's Future

Strategic and systematic thinking are the hallmarks of districts positioned for future growth. But where do you begin? How does a district move from planning to implementation and what are the steps to achieve a successful facility-related project?

Understanding the needs of a district is paramount to the planning process where facility improvements, programmatic initiatives, and 21st Century learning environments continue to drive education forward. Districts need to engage their communities, define needs, navigate funding, communicate effectively, select a delivery model, and establish a plan for on-going facility operations. The ICS team provides the knowledge, skills, and tools to help districts craft a vision, plan the approach, fund the work, manage the construction, and maintain overall operations. That is how ICS has helped to pass over $500 Million in referenda this past year. To find out more about integrating the intricate process of planning, funding, design, construction and on-going facility operations for your district, contact Karen Klein at 651-728-1880 or karen.klein@ics-consult.com.